PROJECT PROFILE

CENTENNIAL CENTER PARK

PROJECT INFORMATION

The 11-acre, award winning, Centennial Center Park provides a variety of features and amenities for the community's use. Designed for year-round family-friendly enjoyment, Centennial Center Park includes a large, covered shelter with gas fireplace and a smaller, more intimate coffee shelter for smaller gatherings.

Children of all ages will find hours of fun on one of three climbing walls, two expansive, age-appropriate play areas and the Nautilus water play area in the center of the Park. Ideally situated on a slight bluff adjacent to Centennial Civic Center, Centennial Center Park also features "butte" and "meadow" nature areas, three decorative water fountains and a two-story covered shelter to overlook the plaza or enjoy a spectacular Centennial sunset.

The Park's unique design is intended to convey the passage of time, this concept is articulated through the integration of arches, spirals and curves into the park's structures and many unique features. The Nautilus shape formed by the central playground complex is a prominent example of this theme.

The Park features various historical and educational elements as well. The main plaza showcases the historical timeline of the Cherry Creek Basin, including fun facts and a map of the Cherry Creek Watershed. The amphitheater's design incorporates elements that represent the four periods of human history: Lithic, Archaic, Formative, and Classic. The "Colorado Statehood Walk" displays interesting facts about Colorado, while the "Viewfinder Walk" is an interactive trivia challenge that takes visitors on a quest throughout the Park— highlighting unique points of interests both inside and outside of the Park. Not just a place to play, but also a place to learn, Centennial Center Park is a treasure-trove of history and trivia.
